

Queenstown's unmissable burger

Queenstown is an adventure capital, surrounded by mighty mountains which lure in adrenalin junkies searching for skiing and snowboarding, bungee jumping, mountain biking, four wheel driving and white-water rafting. So it's no surprise that this town builds up a mighty appetite.

Burger fanatics, lovers, or even samplers cannot go past Queenstown's Fergburger.

The famous burger shop serves up serious burgers which are bound to satiate even the hungriest traveller.

Of course, the hearty burgers are the main highlight of the menu, but they can be accompanied by sides or thickshakes – for those who dare.

The shop is located in the heart of Queenstown and can be most easily spotted during peak periods by the line of people leading to its door.

Fortunately for those who are on a schedule, or simply do not want to wait, it's possible to call in advance or order online and pick up your order from the window.

Although Fergburger offers breakfast options from 8am and is flipping patties well into the wee hours, those looking for a morning fix can also pop into Fergbaker, which is located next door.

The lesser-known gem is a great spot to grab a coffee and fresh pastry or pie to go, to provide fuel for the day ahead.
